LOMITA COMMUNITY CHURCH

"Sabbath Observance" was the subject of the morning sermon, from the text, "And He said unto them, The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath."

One day in seven as a day for rest and worship is not only commanded in the Decalogue, but is abundantly confirmed by the human body and the experience of mankind. In the mad frenzy of revolution the French nation scoffed at the Fourth Commandment and made a fast day one day in ten, thinking of their decimal system. It did not work. They were compelled humbly to go back and pick up the Fourth Commandment from the scrap heap into which they had foolishly thrown it.

Man needs the day for physical rest. More work and better work can be accomplished in six days than in seven days. He needs the day for his spiritual nature—time to think about God and the blessing of worship. The day is needed for the moral training and instruction of children and youth. When Sunday becomes a day of pleasure it ceases to be a day of rest. Animals are better for the week-day rest. The ox teams and horses of the pioneers to California in the rush for gold, that rested on Sunday, reached California before those who pressed on regardless of a day of rest.

The Sabbath was made for man. Twenty-six babies were born in the parks of San Francisco following the earthquake and fire 18 years ago. The following Sabbath there was no worship in many of the Oakland churches because refugees filled them. In the First Congregational church 20 sewing machines were kept going all day that Sunday preparing outfits for the babies born across the bay. We have no doubt the Lord of the Sabbath approved that use of His day. How shall the day be observed? Many matters must be left to the individual Christian conscience, considering not self alone, but our fellow Christians, the honor of the church, and the good name of Jesus Christ. In the evening, in observance of Boys' Week, the pastor spoke on the subject, "What About Your Boy?"—using the text, "There is a lad here." At the morning service Charles Eade was heard in an offertory solo that was enjoyed by all. Mothers' Day will be observed Sunday, May 11.

EASTERN STAR NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Parks and Mrs. George D. Watson attended Matrons' and Patrons' night at the Redondo chapter, O. E. S., Tuesday night. The hall was beautifully decorated and a splendid program was enjoyed.

The dance given Tuesday night at Masonic hall by the Torrance chapter, O. E. S., was well attended and was as enjoyable as all of the Star dances are. Good music and a good floor contributed much to the pleasure of the evening.

PAPA WINS

Buddy recently tried out his first dime novel, and just as he got to the exciting part his father discovered and collared him. "Unhaad me, villain," cried Buddy, still thinking of the story, "or there'll be bloodshed!" "No," said his father, grimly tightening his hold on Buddy's collar, "not bloodshed—woodshed!"
